Countdown to Ireland's largest ever Emergency Medicine meeting continues apace - 'Bridging the Gap between Evidence and Practice'

With just 40 days to go to the Welcome Reception for the 14th International Conference on Emergency Medicine (ICEM) when the Irish Association for Emergency Medicine will act as host to approximately 2,000 delegates from over 60 different countries, preparations for the meeting continue to gather momentum.

The conference, which will begin at the Convention Centre, Dublin on Wednesday 27th June 2012 at 08:00 hrs and continue for 4 days, will be preceded by a unique Welcome Reception at the Guinness Storehouse and feature a number of Pre-conference workshops, the latter disseminating state of the art emergency skills with one showcasing multidisciplinary teamwork across the Irish emergency services.

To date, the meeting has attracted a record number of scientific abstracts for such an international meeting and the innovative programme of plenary lectures and multiple tracks of cutting edge scientific content will highlight the best aspects of Emergency Medicine, both in Ireland and beyond.

The meeting will also provide local delegates from all elements of the Irish health service with an opportunity to network with international experts and colleagues as well as participate in the launch of the International Federation of Emergency Medicine (IFEM) standards on Paediatric Emergency Medicine as well as the Quality Framework for Emergency Medicine.

As hosts of the prestigious meeting, IAEM looks forward with excited anticipation to extending a warm Irish welcome to Dublin to the world's Emergency Medicine community and promises a singularly memorable event from an academic, networking, tourist and social perspective.
